Just transferred XXX from eTrade to Computershare today. Customer Support was nice enough but they had no clue how/what i was trying to do, which was obviously kind of concerning. However, after about 1.5hrs and alot of "calls to the backoffice", the transfer was initiated. Per the agent, it was absolutely free (after initially being told it would be $500). He said the shares would first be sent to an unknown transfer agent and then onto Computershare. He said it would take 3 - 5 days (after initially being told it would take 3 - 6 weeks).■

Though it was a bit of a hassle, i have to say, it was surprising how great it felt! Really empowering!!
