#Background

Executive Order 14067 of March 9, 2022, "Ensuring Responsible Development of Digital Assets" (hereafter "Executive Order") (87 FR 14143; March 14, 2022), outlines principal U.S. policy objectives with respect to digital assets.

These principal policy objectives are:

* Protection of consumers, investors, and businesses in the United States

* Protection of United States and global financial stability and the mitigation of systemic risk

* Mitigation of illicit finance and national security risks posed by misuse of digital assets

* Reinforcement of U.S. leadership in the global financial system and in technological and economic competitiveness, including through the responsible development of payment innovations and digital assets

* Promotion of access to safe and affordable financial services

* Support of technological advances that promote responsible development and use of digital assets

#This RFC offers an opportunity for all interested parties to provide relevant input, data, and recommendations pertaining to the implications of development and adoption of digital assets and changes in financial market and payment infrastructures for United States consumers, investors, businesses, and for equitable economic growth.
