

Title: this guy is a visionary ■

Author: 6kidd

Created 2022-03-30 14:37:06 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/ts7va9/this_guy_is_a_visionary/

Url: <https://i.redd.it/8h5ei49f8jq81.jpg>

File: 1395093168358.png (305 KB, 495x470, 1394387815629.png)

First National Bank of Gamestop Anonymous 03/17/14(Mon)14:52 UTC-7 No.235956257 Replies: 235956687 235956928 235956992 235957248

Does anyone else use Gamestop as a bank?

I got really pissed off with US Bank because I kept overdrafting my account even though I opted out, and the same thing happened with my credit union when I got a debit card.

Now whenever I get paid I go preorder a whole shitload of games. Whenever I need money, I go to the nearest gamestop and ask for my money back on a game I don't want and make a withdrawal. The lines are shorter at gamestop than at the bank and I can trade in old games and have money go straight to my savings account. Gamestops are just as prevalent as banks in my town and I work at a mall so it's even more convenient than running an errand to the bank or using an ATM and getting charged.

The gamestop people are starting to catch on that I'm just moving money around and only buying one preordered game a year, if that, but there isn't shit they can do about it. The best part is, since I always preorder every game coming out I'm still guaranteed to get all the exclusive content whether or not I'm sure I want a certain game. It's like they're rewarding me for banking with them.

Anonymous 03/17/14(Mon)14:56 UTC-7 No.235956687 Replies: 235957157

235956257 \(OP\)

I can't decide if you're retarded or brilliant.