I haven't kept up with GME for a bit as my brain just needed a bit of a break lol. So if I have this right the split dividend was issued, with the intentions of them (brokerages??) going out and finding these shares. But instead it's being issued as a normal split because if it were done correctly it would fuck the shorts, and since it's not done correctly Ryan cohen can take some kind of action himself to fuck shorts? If someone could explain in comments or link me to a post I'd appreciate it
