I'm from Canada and all my gme shares are in a tfsa. I was told that nobody can borrow my shares in a tfsa and when contacting TD they told me they will raise the sell price in accordance to the market value. Pretty much im wondering if It would be fine to leave them in a tfsa since it would be nice to take advantage of the tax free part of the account. Also can I trust them to raise the sell limit if this gets crazy. Thanks for the help!
