

Title: Prepare for the Split on Fidelity: Ensure you Receive Stock, not Cash

Author: CalicoJake

Created 2022-04-22 17:00:33 UTC

Permalink: /r/DDintoGME/comments/u9jdja/prepare_for_the_split_on_fidelity_ensure_you/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/DDintoGME/comments/u9jdja/prepare\_for\_the\_split\_on\_fidelity\_ensure\_you/

Hey Apes... this has been mentioned before, but I am going to post it anyway because this is important. (I dont have enough karma to post in SS)

If you are holding a few shares with Fidelity, there is a good chance that your account is set to receive a cash payout rather than stock, following the split.

To receive stock, follow these steps:

1. Log into Fidelity.
2. Go to Positions.
3. At the top of your Positions list (just under the label "INDIVIDUAL", there is a link for "Manage Dividends"... click on that.
4. You will be directed to a new screen with a table of your positions.
5. On the row with Gamestop, on the far right, is a column called "Actions"... click the link that says "Update".
6. You will be directed to a new screen.
7. There is table with a row called "Dividends and Capital Gains", with two columns: "Reinvest in Security" and "Deposit to Core Account". Click the Radio button for "Reinvest in Security"
8. Click the grey Update button.

That's it. Enjoy your tendies Apes!

Buy, DRS, HODL

To the moon!

(I can do a write up for TD Ameritrade, if anyone needs it. Cheers!)