There is a need for a central location to compile financial information for individual investors of all types. To solve this problem, I would like to introduce Econiverse!

<https://econiverse.github.io/>

Econiverse is a free and open source website that was created as a compilation of free knowledge, educational sources, and resources for those who wish to learn more about finance. The pages are intended to provide detailed information that is easily digestible. You shouldn't have to pay anything to learn about finance and this resource provides a way to do that!

Shout out to u/dangerous_dylan, u/disoriented_llama, u/naruto015, u/Meticulous- (for the work on wikAPedia and allowing it to be embedded) for helping to bring the site to where it is today and u/SexyYear and the Gamestonk Terminal community for ideas about future integration.

By nature, this site will always be a work in progress. Anyone can contribute! Contributing is easy and instructions can be found here.

Feel free to comment here or reach out to me with any questions or suggestions!
