My last GME shares have arrived in due time to board the train for their destination - out of this market!
I am now an XXX holder! :D

I was just looking at the market the last week...one day everything was red. Except for GME.

I started investing in the stock market in jan 2021. Not related to GME.

I heard about the reddit craze and bought 2 shares of GME at 118 dollars.

Was thinking about selling to make a quick buck. Then I started reading on reddit.

And my mind was blown.

Then I started buying little by little and now I am an XXX holder.

I had bought other stocks before GME, none of them performed as good over the past year.

I sold them all and bough GME.

It has been an extraordinary journey so far and I am looking forward to see where it leads.

All the best to everyone!
