I have a rollover IRA from a previous job that I hold a quite sizeable amount of GME in (and have for almost a year). I went all in. I am wondering if it is possible to DRS these shares without paying taxes? I already had everything from my regular brokerage account sent over to computer share. I think because this is not a regular IRA, but a rollover, that it's not possible to DRS. Am I wrong? I would love to send them if I can.

If it's not possible, I will continue to diamond hand them in my rollover account. TIA.
