I recently bought more shares and have DRS'd them. My smooth brain has a few questions, as I don't want to incorrectly list them and get a good telling off by the bot or mods!

1) I'm adding to the same account of shares, should I comment on my original post with a pic, or create a new post?

2) When I tell the bot, do I tell it how many additional shares or collective using the :XXX! ? (Obviously depending on what the answer was to the first question).

3) Does the new post have to be on the same subreddit that my original post was on?

Some clarity on this would be appreciated. If the information is already readily available, I apologise for being a turnip, but I honestly couldn't make heads or tails of the description on my original post.

Any links would be appreciated if there is a post on it!
