You can read about the 100 Monkey Effect

You can read about the Age of Enlightenment

I cannot confirm this but I have a feeling that DFV and the original LEAVEMEANON have set a class conscious movement into place.

DFV saw a broken system (like all of us) he also found the system fix. He shares his thoughts memes. A couple stand out. He relates RC to Neo from the Matrix that explains itself.

Here are two fun ones:

- The Moon (wiki](https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Moon_(2009_film))))

(tweet)

— this one stands out because DFV photoshops a message into his edit. Go read it.

- The Son of Man (wiki)(tweet)

—this is the last photo meme edit we got and it's RC with GME logo in this 1964 painting.

At least it hides the face partly well, so you have the apparent face, the apple, hiding the visible but hidden, the face of the person. It's something that happens constantly. Everything we see hides another thing, we always want to see what is hidden by what we see. There is an interest in that which is hidden and which the visible does not show us. This interest can take the form of a quite intense feeling, a sort of conflict, one might say, between the visible that is hidden and the visible that is present

So what does DFV see in RC?

Just go check out RCs twitter and look at the first 6 retweets. He is providing links to articles that explain a laid out story of

1. What he did with chewy
2. His favorite part
3. Does not have interest in retiring
4. His motivation (hint: it's not money)
5. The next steps, his plan
6. Amazon is competition

That leads us to something very interesting. This man is not working for money. DFV understands that RC has the ability to bring systematic change based on his memes. This is not just about GameStop but the big picture.

So back to today, Ken Griffey eh. Can you believe that retail is to blame?

No. I don't. And that's why we need to share ahead of times like today.

Here's why:

I tell everyone about this stock and the saga. Most people think I am delusional, my close friends have yet to jump on board. My parents think I'm an idiot. Safe to say they are tired of hearing about "apes buying and holding GameStop. DRS. NFT. Etc".

So now while my boomer parents turn into CNBC or CNN or maybe FOX, depends if their at work or not. They will see the Ken Griffin interview blaming retail for losing pension funds.

Hopefully, my parents will question this. Knowing that GameStop investors are just a bunch of apes on the internet direct registering a stock building an NFT marketplace online and digital gaming. How did their idiot son ruin teachers pension funds when all he did was buy $GME on the hood transferred to FUDelity, directed to be registered with Computershare.

Hopefully, these boomers who just put tablet after video after game in front of their children start to realize that the future of kids is digital. Then it makes sense. Hell my mom is a teacher and tells me all about kids and their devices.

This is where we allow the Age of Enlightenment to interact with the 100 monkey effect. Right now we are a small group that believes in systematic change. We have luckily been lead to this game. We are playing the game and just like in sports, for my New Yorkers, in 2007 the NY Giants stopped the Patriots from a perfect record, would never happen again in a 1,000 replays but it happened. We found the end to the game. Share our story and it will become the truth.
