Been telling them to buy GME since Jan 2021, but now, FINALLY, my dad has been on SS and figured out the merit. He and my mom want to buy (and DRS) shares in time for the stock split. What's the best way to manage it? Neither of them have bank accounts linked via Fidelity...

Whales incoming, if we can get this sorted!!

EDIT: They're investing no matter what--but if there's a way to get the stock split, that's what we need to know. Fidelity has a 1 - 3 day wait to link a bank account. Any other way to buy?? Should I have them send me money, and I can buy for them via ComputerShare or Fidelity? Or will that have tax implications...? Wrinkle brain needed :D
