

Title: An obsession with wiffle ball, and an unfortunate misunderstanding: What really happened the night Kenneth C. Griffin allegedly threw a bedpost at his fiancé after she called Chicago 'unsophisticated'? (■SHITPOST■)

Author: Expensive-Two-8128

Created 2022-06-15 19:16:50 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/vd2b9u/an_obsession_with_wiffle_ball_and_an_unfortunate/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/Superstonk/comments/vd24r8/an_obsession_with_wiffle_ball_and_an_unfortunate/

Linked Post Content:

Sup, apes!

Because we have a lot of new GME investors who weren't around when this was a hot topic (and because MOASS is tomorrow) I thought it would be a good time to clear some things up about this.

As we all know, in life there are always two sides to every story. And as much as we all despise Kenneth C. Griffin for his vast financial crimes, I think it's important to represent both accounts of the infamous story of the night Kenneth C. Griffin allegedly threw a bedpost at his fiancé after she called Chicago 'unsophisticated'.

For the uninitiated, the official report is as follows:

* Kenneth C. Griffin's soon-to-be wife, Anne Dias, wanted a clause in their prenuptial agreement allowing her to move their three children to New York or San Francisco in the event of a divorce

* Dias claimed she wanted this because she did not want to continue living in Chicago, which she considered to be 'unsophisticated'

* Griffin balked at the demand, and in the ensuing argument, he became so incensed by her pre-nup demand that he removed a post from their bed and threw it at her

* Then they got married 3 days later at a lavish marriage ceremony in Versailles, France

Ask yourself: Does this really look like a man who would intentionally throw a bedpost at his fiancé?

What really happened, according to Ken:

* Kenneth C. Griffin claims that story was all just a big misunderstanding

* Griffin does not deny ripping the bedpost off

* BUT, he clarified that he only did so because he and Dias were OBSESSED with wiffle ball

* They wanted to play in the bedroom, but they didn't have a bat, so Ken did what any billionaire would, and broke off the bedpost

* Dias' first pitch was a FUCKING LASER of a strike, and, summoning all of his strength, Ken swung HARD

* But wouldn't you fucking know it- with mayo slathered fingers, he didn't stand a chance of holding onto the "bat" that immediately became an object of destruction headed straight for his ex's face

* She took offense, obviously, but it's clear that there is virtually no awareness of his side of the story

* Griffin says that the reason no one ever talks about the wiffle ball they found under the bed is because of internet conspiracy theorists who buried that fact deeeeeeep against all his efforts to get the truth out

Now you know: Kenneth C. Griffin clearly isn't the coke-raging, abusive asshole the rumors have made him out to be. He's just a nice guy who also happens to be a global financial criminal.

/s ...he totally did it.