Keep in mind that the utilization is 100% this is still massive! Because that means that all shares available have been lent, of course that doesn't stop the HFs shorting which has been proven numerous times. We touched 130 and have seen it drop back to where we started when market opened today... what does this mean? It means we continue to BUY, HOLD and DRS if you can. You will sometimes get those who do not believe in your investment but please do not bite back to their comments, we will win in due time fellow apes. This is the easy part, it's the you know what that'll be the hard part so prepare yourself and keep level headed. GME to the moon fellow apes ■■■
