I got home, turned on my Xbox, and it updated the software in a variety of areas of interest. It popped out to me because they would all make sense for NFT and Metaverse integration, and I tried finding news on it, but any Xbox update news was buried under some Cyberpunk update that hit. I'm hoping someone else might have spotted more details.

The updates were to Microsoft Xbox Purchase Host, Xbox Original Avatars, Xbox Avatar Editor, Events (Beta), and Microsoft Rewards on Xbox. I took pics of the updates.

This was also not a quickie update. It required a full Xbox restart, which is super rare nowadays. I fully believe Microsoft just pushed a huge update for NFT/Metaverse stuff.

I think the Purchase Host was updated to integrate with Gamestop's NFT marketplace, and the Avatar system has been updated so that they can be used in the Metaverse. This update also pushed out the same day as Ryan Cohen's latest "God Bless Gmerica" tweet. There are no coincidences.

One step closer.
