

Title: SeekingAlpha article claims Melvin would've forced GME into bankruptcy if it wasn't for us meddling kids

Author: MarcinTheMartian

Created 2022-04-06 18:54:39 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/txtcnz/seekingalpha_article_claims_melvin_wouldve_forced/

Url: <https://i.redd.it/yj4o71argyr81.jpg> behind the S&P performance. It seems that investors are putting way too much confidence in Mr. Cohen and his ability to turn around this company or to create something new that he hasn't been able to create at Chewy.

Data by YCharts

This article isn't a smear campaign against Mr. Cohen as most of us would only dream of being as successful as he has been. Also, without his intervention and those of the meme mania - GameStop most likely would have already gone bankrupt. Melvin Capital under normal circumstances would have successfully deprived GameStop of accessing the financial markets to raise equity forcing the company into bankruptcy.