

Title: Boston Consulting Group (BCG) has been heavily involved in the decline of public schools.
Author: disoriented_llama
Created 2022-04-08 11:18:00 UTC
Permalink: /r/TheGloryHodl/comments/tz187l/boston_consulting_group_bcg_has_been_heavily/
Url: /r/Superstonk/comments/tyvkdk/boston_consulting_group_bcg_has_been_heavily/

Linked Post Content:

I am on my phone so It is hard for me to do a fancy post with lots of links and stuff but I will do what I can
And hopefully some sleuth apes take this and dig deeper.

I started out googling No child Left Behind and Boston Consulting Group. This led me to this Blog by Diane Ravitch. She is an "educational historian" Served in some Gov educational positions and now fights the privatization of schools and all around seems to try to want to actually fix public education. She has a whole swath of posts written concerning BCG.

<https://dianeravitch.net/category/boston-consulting-group/>

This shit goes deep and these are the people who are already digging.

Look up your schools and see if they have used BCG. From what I can tell they have done "work" all over the place.

Would love to do more research tonight but maybe some others want to dig more.

Fuck these Crooks.

Edit: Digging more and holy shit Margaret Spellings, former secretary of education under George Bush. She then went on to work a stint at a little known consulting group called BCG.

https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Margaret\_Spellings

She did No child Left Behind

She was also on the Board of the Apollo group

<https://www.sec.gov/Archives/edgar/data/929887/000119312512265951/d364792dex991.htm>