

Title: Google has blocked auto-complete of the word 'perjury' with 'Ken Griffin' - I don't care how much money you pay a search engine company, this shouldn't happen. We are not China.

TLDR; For the last several days Go0gle has stopped associating (auto filling) the word perjury with Ken Griff1n when searching (try it yourself). Virtually every other name you search (including 'random name' and 'mickey mouse' will complete the word perjury when you start to type it. DRS is the way.

A couple days ago I posted about this, and it was lost in the noise. Since this is still actively happening, I felt it was worth bringing it to light again so more people can see the lengths K3n will go to to protect himself. You think when you search Go0gle (or any other search engine), you're receiving an unbiased view of the internet, free from manipulation, and that hasn't been massaged based on monetary incentives. You think you live in a world of free information flow on the internet.

Guess who else is being protected...

Please let me know what other names associated with this mess are hiding from the public through this subtle yet blatant search manipulation.

DRS is the way.

Edit: It brings a smile to my face to imagine a Google analyst deep in the bowels of Alphabet HQs getting a pop-up notification of a trending search* that hits their blacklist Ken Griffin + perjury and wondering "Hm... what's this?" thinking to himself 'why did thousands of IPs from all over the globe just now search this?', as he took off his Google hat for a second, placing it slowly down on his desk, he clicks the disable button on the "don't show Griffin + perjury news" (camera pans to the side of this noble character... to reveal an Ape riding a rocket to the moon tattoo (one of us, can be heard chanting in the background as the scene cuts to Ken's trial)... likely there is no analyst like this, but one can dream. The movie deserves it... if I were the one writing :D

Edit 2: Worth noting. This post is at 98% upvoted (at 7.5k votes) at 11:03am EST and I've added the phrase "DRS is the way." in two places. I'm curious to see if that upvote diminishes with this phrase being included. I will report back later.

Edit 3: Checking back in... 30 minutes later. This post is now 94% upvoted (at 11.1k votes). I'm an engineer, so I think I can do this math, but someone please correct me if I'm wrong (I assume upvotes cancel downvotes in the total represented)... in that case a drop from 98% (at 7.5K upvotes and 150 downvotes = 7.65k total at edit 2 above) to now 94% (11.1k upvotes and 667 downvotes = 11.7k total as of this edit) means the last 4.1k voting between edit 2 and this edit required 517 (or $667 - 150 = 517$) downvotes to bring the average to 94% on the total upvote of 11.1k as of now.

So...

After the words "DRS is the way" were added to this post. The percentage of downvoting increased from 2% (150 of the first 7.65k) to 12.6% (517 of the last 4.1k votes) to make the total 94% upvotes at 11.1k upvoted (as of the time of this edit).

or... if I'm being fair in considering alternative explanations... it's possible that being at the top of the sub brings a lot more "this isn't directly about what I want to see... so I'll downvote" sentiment. That said, the post was at the top for a good 30 minutes prior to edit 2 above and was fluctuating between 98-99% since it started. So I see this as unlikely to be the main contributing factor to the uptick in downvoting here.

Just providing the data and some thoughts of my own. I'll let others draw their own conclusions.

Edit 4: Looks like my edit 3 section included the name of the sub triggering the automod to remove this post. I'm hoping it can be fixed. I've edited that part to read "the sub" instead of the name.

Edit 5: It's back up. Thanks mods, appreciate you.

Edit 6: Searching the term now brings you directly to this post.
