

Title: Not just bots, the narrative has also changed.

Author: Initium_Novum2

Created 2022-04-24 20:54:06 UTC

Permalink: /r/DDintoGME/comments/ub42sb/not_just_bots_the_narrative_has_also_changed/

Url:

https://www.reddit.com/r/DDintoGME/comments/ub42sb/not_just_bots_the_narrative_has_also_changed/

Two new spins I've noticed since the influx of bots.

GME will go to zero after the squeeze.

They are trying to get everyone to sell early and sell everything. Please don't fall for this. Eliminating the shorts should put us between 500 and 1000 per share of real value.

And that's if we actually sell enough shares to close everything. If we all hold most of our stack, then the infinity pool is an actual possibility.

Diluting the current share price is bad for retail. The board shouldn't be getting paid as much as they are.

They are trying to shift focus to the negative. Stay frosty, stay smart.

Apes strong TOGETHER!!

Edit.

I'm trying to find it. The post was talking about buying back in 1/3 of your profits after the peak and possibly making MOASS money over the next 5 years.