Hi ,

Thanks for reaching out, I'll gladly assist you with this!

We will only send a sell order to the market when you execute it, so if you do not submit a sell order, we will not sell your share without your consent even if it is trading at $200,000,000. Furthermore, we will not stop you from submitting a sell order unless there is an exchange halt or regulatory halt on the stock that we need to abide by!

One thing to keep in mind, let's say GME reaches $1,200,000, there has to be a buyer willing to pay that much and at these price levels, liquidity does fall so just a little thing to keep in mind about this almost certain upcoming GME squeeze!

I hope this helps and if you have further questions, please let me know!

All the best,
