

Title: GME has won the MEME stock "wars", its time for peace

Author: StrangeGuyFromCorner

Created 2022-04-01 12:32:07 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/ttpjtt/gme_has_won_the_meme_stock_wars_its_time_for_peace/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/GME/comments/ttpjtt/gme\_has\_won\_the\_meme\_stock\_wars\_its\_time\_for\_peace/

Hey, i started as an popC Ape but it didnt take to long until i saw/read the potential of GME. I always got the news of popC first and the source was most of the time from GME. I often looked at reddit, youtube, twitter and other social media posts in the popC spectrum. Then i went zen a few months and havent looked at anything. I returned to the r/place announcement since i think that this has potential as representation but then the announcement of the stock split happened.

Look at the popC videos.

Look at the popC reddit.

Look around yourself.

Everywere i look, i see that popC apes not only cheer for the GME announcement, i see that their tone has changed. I see post about Apes that discuss about not selling popC but buying into GME. Of course not everyone has the same opinion but some do.

GME did it. It has proven its value.

But please, don't go into the popC reddit and tell them they were wrong. I still think both can moon and the people of GME boasting over their superiority always made it a little strange to buy in. They made it harder. The DD was compelling but the boasting was discouraging.

Maybe if we accept each other the floor will rise to. To Infinity And Beyond

(but first, lets show r/place who we are)