GME and other retail favorites have been subjected to the same thing week after week, month after month.

For them, this is still a game, one they think they can win. They will literally never stop trying to weasel out of their stuck position. They will never willingly cover. They direct order flow and can print shares and money ad infinitum.

This is the core function of our current system, which everyone knows is designed as a hierarchy that syphons energy from the bottom to the top. If poors do a capitalism, who do these parasites feed off of?

We have to stop playing defense and take the fight to them. This is how. Our greatest strengths are solidarity and internet virality.

They are robbing us of our lives. We should all be laid out on some tropical beach sipping Mai Tai's. They aren't just taking our money, but our time with their lies. We will be in the same place 100 years if we don't take action. Let's put pressure on them from every conceivable angle:
