So from what I know when selling through Computershare you have the option of getting a cheque in the mail or a wire to your bank.

As an europoor the issue for me is all of my current bank accounts have limits of around €1,000,000. I'm looking into the possibility of opening an account without maximum fund limits.

Cheque is also an option. I dunno about you guys, but I would a bit uncomfortable with the idea of a cheque for millions being sent to me in the mail.

Any thoughts on this?

* I know some of you are going to say don't sell GME shares you have in Computershare, but as I'm 100% DRS'd I will be selling at least one during MOASS
