

Title: Prepare for the Split on TDA: Ensure you Receive Stock, not Cash

Author: CalicoJake

Created 2022-04-22 17:48:02 UTC

Permalink: /r/DDintoGME/comments/u9kev5/prepare_for_the_split_on_tda_ensure_you_receive/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/DDintoGME/comments/u9kev5/prepare_for_the_split_on_tda_ensure_you_receive/

Hey Apes... this has been mentioned before, but I am going to post it anyway because this is important. (I don't have enough karma to post in SS)

If you are holding a few shares with TD Ameritrade (TDA), there is a good chance that your account is set to receive a cash payout rather than stock, following the split.

To receive stock, follow these steps:

1. Log into TDA.
2. In the top-left corner, click on My Account.
3. A drop-down menu will appear. Select "Dividend Reinvestment"
4. You will be directed to a new screen with a table of your positions.
5. At the top-left of the table is a green button called "Edit enrollments". Click on that.
6. The UI for the table will change slightly, with a checkbox appearing next to GME. Click the Checkbox. (If you would like to do this for all your stocks, you can optionally choose to auto-enroll in "All current and future eligible stocks and ETFs in DRIP". But there is only stock, hallowed be its name.)
7. Click the Save button.

That's it. Enjoy your tendies Apes!

Buy, DRS, HODL

To the moon!

This is a follow-up to my post about doing this on Fidelity.

https://old.reddit.com/r/DDintoGME/comments/u9jdja/prepare_for_the_split_on_fidelity_ensure_you/