Everyone is always pushing for 100% DRS, which I don't disagree with and is what I have done for shares I held in a brokerage account (minus a couple I just bought b/c I always get that impulse once my brokerage account doesn't have any GME in it). But I think equally important is for everyone to at least DRS 1 share. It gets your name one the books and publicly shows how many retail investors are actually die hard supporters of this company.

We can see how many people follow a subreddit, but SS increases by like 500 a day and is over 800K now and a lot of it is obviously bots. There's also a lot who hold and don't have reddit accounts. Reddit accounts are like holding shares in a brokerage though, there's no way for us to know the real numbers. DRS is like blockchain, it can't be faked. We know there are at least 165,000 of us per Computershare.

I don't care if you only have 1 share or if you have tons of shares and just want to hold them in a brokerage account for whatever reason - DRS 1 share. Help us determine how many Apes are actually out there, it's the only way.
