

Title: Potential Gamestop Merger and Acquisition soon?

Author: EZMoney_33

Created 2021-11-11 20:52:39 UTC

Permalink: /r/DDintoGME/comments/qruqq4/potential_gamestop_merger_and_acquisition_soon/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/DDintoGME/comments/qruqq4/potential_gamestop_merger_and_acquisition_soon/

Click here for GS job description posted on 11/11. - <https://careers.gamestop.com/en-US/job/manager-sap-data-conversions/J3N0PR6K5NGCLMR9J5N>

Looks like GS will be making an announcement soon since they posted job opening on November, 11 looking for SAP Data Conversions Manager to help with System Carve Outs and Merger and Acquisition.

What is system carve out?

" A carve-out is the partial divestiture of a business unit in which a parent company sells a minority interest of a subsidiary to outside investors. A company undertaking a carve-out is not selling a business unit outright but, instead, is selling an equity stake in that business or relinquishing control of the business from its own while retaining an equity stake. A carve-out allows a company to capitalize on a business segment that may not be part of its core operations. "

Source here:

<https://www.investopedia.com/terms/c/carveout.asp>

Reposting since Mod removed my original post.