

Title: ■ SEC Proposed Rulemaking on SHORTS Due NOW

Author: disoriented_llama

Created 2022-04-27 18:09:48 UTC

Permalink: /r/TheGloryHodl/comments/ud9wmy/sec_proposed_rulemaking_on_shorts_due_now/

Url: /r/DeepFuckingValue/comments/ucuc5b/sec_proposed_rulemaking_on_shorts_due_now/

Linked Post Content:

SEC's MAIN REGULATION re: Short-Selling (P.R. 13f-2) Deadline to submit comments is TUESDAY 4/26 (tonight!)

PROPOSED RULE 13f-2: "Short Positions & Short Activity Reporting by Institutional Investment Managers"

REGULATION SHO, Rule 205 ("Buy to Cover" reporting requirement), & Re-Opening of Comment Period for Proposed Rule 10 c-1, which last received comments in Jan. ■

👉 ■ DUE 4/26/22

SUBMIT COMMENTS HERE: <https://www.sec.gov/cgi-bin/ruling-comments>

READ comments already submitted: <https://www.sec.gov/comments/s7-08-22/s70822.htm> more reading here: <https://www.federalregister.gov/documents/2022/03/16/2022-04670/short-position-and-short-activity-reporting-by-institutional-investment-managers>

<https://www.sec.gov/news/press-release/2022-32>

Possible Initial Incarnation of the Bill?

<https://www.sec.gov/comments/sr-dtc-2021-003/srdtc2021003.htm>

(we could use help on this part & comparing with future rulemaking, and why this one from January was cancelled)