People are not an infinite well of resources. Every now and again, they need a refill of love, light and kindness. That was supposed to be the point of all of this. For all of us. Oh my God. Wow wow wow. Positive reenforcement is the best.

You are all the best.

If you hear an idea, then know that it is being contemplated. Brainstorming. Things are a helluva lot different.

Love one another. Sometimes people have a hard time then chill out. So much I wish I could say, but ultimately, despite the hardships, stay positive.

Very few have been on this side of things. Before I learn a new dance, I watch the instructor demonstrate. I'm actually a good listener & can figure out the details.

Stay flexible. And remember we've all made some assumptions that aren't true or even applicable. Remain calm.

Positivity 100%.
