Expecting to get banned here just like I did at r/superstonkuk.

I'm invested in GME & LRC, and until a few days ago I was not aware that counter DD does exist.

I am not trying to spread fud, but I found it concerning that it is not being looked at by people investing serious amounts of money into the stock. The message I have been reading again and again across the main sub is "no counter DD exists".

I came across r/GME_Meltdown_DD and was shocked that I had not heard of it before, even in a mocking sense. This makes me wonder if anyone is really aware of it.

The person writing this DD has contact the mods at SS more than once, offering to debate the conflicting opinions. They have been ignored... Why is that?

Do your own research and only invest what you are comfortable with. Hopefully this doesn't get deleted.
