Regarding the situation around the GME stock.. it costs shf money to short a stock, and they're bleeding.. who gets that money?

And when it squozes and I sell a single share for, at the very least 12 million dollars, who's paying me? Will it be my broker? Sounds like they gonna be broke fast if so.

additional question.

Just did my first DRS (had address issues, not gonna get into it) but my shares left Fudelity and are.... where now?

So I need to set up an account? Contact CS? Halp? Am is crayon eater.
