I originally saw Matt Finestone( head of GMENFT blockchain) share this on twitter, and I kept waiting on reddit to dig into it. I never saw a post on this, so I figure its time to get a conversation started.

This company below states the following," Use Web3 Onboard to create an easy connect wallet button that integrates GameStop Wallet into your dapp in three simple steps. "

This seems pretty big to me, making it super easy to onboard the GME wallet into other companies applications. It looks like its like a one button click to add their code system into your application.

Gamestop even talks about it on the GME NFT articles page here:

I'm not a huge crypto guy so I had to google around what even a dApp is, easy overview here;

I think this is giving us a peak at what is really to come from the marketplace, ie; NOT a JPEG marketplace ;)

As always get, and stay JACKED.
