

Title: Have any Military / Government Employees given thought to an early TSP distribution to direct register more GME?

Author: cheyennepeppr

Created 2022-06-27 22:37:56 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/vm7htp/have_any_military_government_employees_given/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/GME/comments/vm7htp/have_any_military_government_employees_given/

Thanks to the wonderful GME subs I am now 100% DRS'd from my individual Vanguard / Fidelity brokerage accounts and my Vanguard Roth IRA. I decided that taking the financial penalty on my Roth IRA for the reassurance that my investment is safe at Computershare was absolutely worth it. I also have a recurring investment plan with Computershare - so I'm feeling like I have maxed my easily available resources.

I'm now starting to think about my Roth TSP. I have been 100% vested in the G-Fund since cracks started showing in the bull market late last year. While it's nice not to worry about losing any principle in these uncertain market conditions, I'm starting to think about what it might look like to take an early distribution or rollover some or all of my Roth TSP to a brokerage account, buy more GME, and DRS it.

I feel that money sitting idly in TSP accounts could be a huge boon to the DRS effort if more apes consider it. Has anyone else considered or achieved a TSP rollover/distribution to buy more of their favorite stock? Does anyone know the implications of such a move? (I did read that Roth TSPs can only rollover to a traditional IRA, which could affect the taxes.)

Does anyone else look at their TSP balance and think, "I should do something with this?"