It would appear that ruler 003 has been approved. Houston Wade quote 'essentially a black market deal for assets'. This should be getting discussed as the overwhelming negative feedback they received should have had some impact (me being incredibly naive). Not some You Tube piece telling you to do your due diligence dummy. I'm still not sure what I'm more annoyed about, but I know which it should be. GME earnings report today then fun and games tomorrow, can't wait.
