I checked Ken's Wikipedia recently and noticed that it changed a lot and has been cleaned up to make him look better. but fortunately, Wikipedia keeps all the old versions archived, so we can still dig up the parts that got edited out.

You can find all this in the [article of 22:11, 8 April

2021](https://en.wikipedia.org/w/index.php?title=Kenneth_C._Griffin&oldid;=1016758125):

> Griffin is known for his incendiary temper and aggressive personality, which has resulted in turnover at Citadel.[9]

> Griffin is very media-shy and rarely gives interviews.[54][173][174] Griffin often buys the rights to photos of him to keep them out of circulation.[146] During a 2007 interview, he said "We zealously guard our private life".[146]

> In 2016, in the largest private art deal ever, he purchased 2 painting from David Geffen for $500 million: Willem de Kooning's 1955 oil painting, Interchange for $300 million, and Jackson Pollock's 1948 painting, Number 17A, for $200 million.[105]

> In an interview with The Wall Street Journal, Mr. Griffin called the experience "a chapter I wish I could edit out".

meaning his public meltdown of a divorce lol. removed April 17 2021 06:48 - Screenshot of the edit

Kinda funny how in the same edit, one of his "charities" got upgraded from helping families to helping children. just has a nicer ring to it I guess. you sly dog Kenny.

I'm sure there is more being covered up, especially his history of art deals seems to constantly switch around the years and prices. his real estate too. it's hard to keep track with the hundreds of edits, often the information is changed and moved around several times until it disappears in another edit. wut doin?
