So I was promoting my two favorite stocks on a forbidden app, specifically I was trying to help explain what an nft is (and not the stupid monkey money laundering version) and how gamestop is working with it. More specifically about nft based skins, and I was asked "Why add blockchain when databases work better, faster, cheaper, and easier".

I'm, eh, let's call it technology inept with things like this as I haven't fully had the time to learn and understand. Can anyone either (brownie points for both explain to me why blockchain is better, or formulate a response as I don't fully understand the technological side of this. Thank you
