As the title suggest, I have been hesitant to drs my GME shares through CS due to my smallish stake of shares and unsure how selling the shares would work? Also does transferring them reset my holding date? Like if I sold through CS would they be considered a short term sell if the price explodes later summer / fall after the potential split?

I get the DRS is the way! and brokers are not to be trusted. But doesnt CS sell through a broker anyway? Eventually I would like to sell the shares when the price is a big as a phone number. Wouldn't CS get blocked by the same powers that would halt selling on a major broker?

Also doesn't CS sell the shares at as a market order and it takes a few days? So if I "hit sell" the sell price could vary greatly from when I press the button and when the sale happens no?

I just have a lot of questions about this.
