

Title: The future of GameStop rewards points

Author: SnowBoarding-Eagle

Created 2021-12-16 21:24:50 UTC

Permalink: /r/DDintoGME/comments/ri0mrw/the_future_of_gamestop_rewards_points/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/DDintoGME/comments/ri0mrw/the\_future\_of\_gamestop\_rewards\_points/

I check in on the GameStop app from time to time (download and leave a review if you like it). I remember lots of posts about supporting the company because we like fundamentals.

One thing I noticed that's interesting is the "making trades at GameStop". This is likely just for game trade ins. But what if other things can be traded? The point of this is the future of trades at GameStop, the idea of cryptocurrency, blockchain, nft, etc. My tits are jacked and if I see them change the "at" part to "with" as in "making trades with GameStop" I will be shitting bricks due to the possible implications. A potential platform for online trading of nft that has potential to distribute unique items at different physical GameStop locations. I believe GameStop wants to be the tech-entertainment-bank where you can bring in a copy of Tony Hawks underground for ps2 and trade it in for 1000 GameStop points or 69 titty jibbly tokens.

PS an example of how other industries use reward points is the airline. Let's say people have $1million circulate airpoints for a month. The airline reports that as x12(year) $12million. Same for Starbucks. I'm sure there are smarter apes that can pick up some of the shit I've been throwing down.

TLDR GameStop app may have future membership benefits for different trading and can become a bank.