

Title: They're too busy prophesizing the drops to even mention GME right now.

I was doing my usual Monday morning checks on things and noticed something strange. The articles that popped up mentioned the S&P; dropping further than it already had. I looked closer and noticed an even bigger discrepancy in the Nasdaq claims.

I know that this isn't anything new, but I feel like it is worth noting when these situations occur since it does confirm that there's knowledge of market movements before they occur.

The best part of all of this, it is clear that something is different right now compared to what we have seen so far in the past year or so. There has not been a dip yet to get me this excited about what is building for GME.

The countdown is well in progress; but, just how close is it to liftoff?

Edit: added the image for reference.
