

Title: Been curious about call options and been trying to do my research, but would like opinions about such and other thoughts and ideas of the matter.

Author: Smaug93

Created 2022-01-13 14:05:58 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/s307fu/been_curious_about_call_options_and_been_trying/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/GME/comments/s307fu/been_curious_about_call_options_and_been_trying/

This dip has me thinking that we are overdue for GME to push back towards $200, if not the old reliable $180, and was considering buying a call for $140-150 for 2/18. I understand the risk would be the upfront cost of it at current prices is near $1000+ and the potential gain of 100 shares when exercised, which I would most likely do, but I don't necessarily understand the gamma, delta intricacies.

I figure at this price I would have a chance at buying 10x as many shares through this option than I would through a direct purchase. Ideas, thoughts, or considerations? Thank you fellow apes ■