A bit of context. Torontonion ape here, been around since January '21. I only ever invested as much as I could afford but last October I got married. Naturally that made things a Lil more difficult so in January I picked up a 2nd and 3rd part time job just to make ends meet. Not to make a long story any longer, things got rough, inflation hurt, part time jobs got canned and now for the first time I don't know how I'll pay for rent. I'm already close to maxed out on credit so that can't carry me forward either.

Is there any GME ape in the Toronto or Ontario region who could possibly help a fellow ape out? I'd be willing to work overnight shifts if I have to. Anything to avoid selling my shares.
