Apes are with you for the long haul. But some of us need this thing to go to sell a few shares to get by. Not that any of us want to but we can't even access any cash in the stock already without taking a massive loss.

We know we own the float with IRA shares. Apes could get it officially locked up in 30 days if GameStop just authorized Computershare to be custodians of our IRA shares like they do with other companies. We just can't risk the tax hit with other options shared to date.

With each day that passes, it gives the crooks more time to cover shares and/or find a loophole out of this.

Your shareholders need your help. Help us help you.
