Why is there no date set in stone for the launch of gme market place? Wouldn't it make sense to have a date (not the DATE) people can look forward to, set money aside for, and clear their schedules for? Like as of right now when it launches sometime this month it's just gonna be a surprise. People will get to it when they get to it that day or the next. I'm just wondering. If this violates rules I am sorry.
