We have lost battles this past year - too many days to count. Along the way many of us apes have lost patience, conviction, morale, sanity, and worse than all of those . . . hope.

The cocks on WS are intentionally trying to hurt us emotionally, physically, and spiritually. That is what happens in war when your enemy tries to defeat you. Having said that, these cocks not only want to defeat you, they want to rule you. I know some would argue that they already do rule us.

If we hold we will win this war. We will be beaten down and exhausted but, if it's a week from now or 3 years from now - we win. That has never changed and will not change. I hold GME for you apes 1 year and counting and I still have hope!
