

Title: When the hell did we trade 42 million? Oh course they mix up the data! So sad what things have become. I buy and hodl.

Author: Peterslum

Created 2022-01-05 23:32:38 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/rx0388/when_the_hell_did_we_trade_42_million_oh_course/

Url: <https://i.redd.it/yqzr2ofefy981.jpg>

Why did GameStop stock drop today? Meme buzz is in the rear-view mirror

Jan 05, 2022 4:04 PM ET | GameStop Corp. (GME) |
Clark Schultz, SA News Editor

GameStop (NYSE:GME) fell 13.02% on a rough day for many meme and story stocks in a broad risk-off trade across the market.

As usual, shares of GameStop are trading more off of animal spirits over fundamental news. Volume of over 42M shares of the retailer swapped hands today. GameStop has plenty of company with its downward slide