Brokers like Fidelity don't allow IRA in-kind transfer DRS directly into Computershare and you choose your own IRA custodian. They only allow for IRA in-kind transfers between and held by other market participant brokers and market participant IRA custodians like Ally and Mainstar who use brokers.

This is designed specifically to keep you and your IRA in their market participant broker network and continue the Fuckery.

The only way to move your GME IRA out of the Fuckery network intact without any tax implications is with the In-kind Distribution and Rollover solution directly into Computershare, without any tax implications, choose a true self-directed IRA (SDIRA) custodian who is not a market participant; and there is no chance for market fuckery. A true SDIRA custodian is not a broker, and doesn't use a broker.

The In-kind distribution and rollover is the quickest way to DRS your GME IRA and cannot be denied by your broker.

BUY HOLD DRS is the way
