I'm going to make this as quick and easy to read as I can on what has happened this week and what next week holds.

We are T +14 from baby squeeze anniversary.

There is a heavy amount of 50 cent ($0.50) put options expiring next Friday. The reason they are non stop shorting and dipping the price as hard as they can is to simply cause less pain for the boat loads of liquid cash they are about to lose next week. Every penny closer to the 50 cent mark saves them money. Next week is a short week. (4 day market week)

As we all know at this point HEDGIES R FUKT. They know they are FUKT and they now we know they are FUKT. What has been done now in the world of PUTs is a massive amount of PUT options in the $160 - $320 range. A massive PUT wall because as those OTM (out of the money) 50 cent options expire EDIT: proving worthless, theoretically causing a ton of "potential shares" on their books to poof, potentially triggering upwards movement. This may be the last day we see the price this low again.

Last thing is the $118 trampoline line. When the price was in the range of $118 from 2/21 - 4/21 it was a T+2 bounce line for huge price correction UP. We hit this line yesterday as the shorted the ETF's holding $GME. They continued to short today but Tuesday will most likely be a very crazy UPWARDS correction. History repeats itself.

Expect next week FUD to be at an ATH. Huge waves of price corrections and more media saying we were wrong and advertising that we are selling. We all know this is not going to be the case. Apes are going to diamond hand until we see 2 things Hedgefucks...

- 1) Our floor price is a phone number, until it gets there you will not cover, close or own a single share. You wont own a single share ever though because
- 2) No sell until you're in a cell for fucking over the 99% for generations.

HODL strong apes. Keep eating this tasty dip. BUY, HODL, and DRS and most importantly have a relaxing weekend.

(This is not financial advice.)
