

Title: Exercise then Direct Register, a question.

Author: Verrysupergaylord

Created 2022-03-29 20:37:53 UTC

Permalink: /r/DDintoGME/comments/trjlhd/exercise_then_direct_register_a_question/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/DDintoGME/comments/trjlhd/exercise\_then\_direct\_register\_a\_question/

THIS IS NOT FINANCIAL ADVICE. A genuine question.

For apes who have calls that are all exercised, do you get paid in cash or in shares?

When you get cash, do you buy shares and then register them?

If you exercise and get shares, are you registering them?

I don't understand options. I just buy, HODL and drs. I'm asking because due to today's fuckery, aren't all those exercised options from $150 Friday still needing to be met? And if they are, WOULDN'T THIS BE THE FASTEST WAY TO ACQUIRE THE MOST SHARES THEN DRS THEM STAT?

TLDR: Options players create more capital for themselves to buy more shares that they can direct register much faster. Is anyone even doing this?

I feel like I'm taking crazy pills.