

Title: PFOF Ban a Panic Move by the SEC

Author: Freshnootz

Created 2022-06-10 18:38:53 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/v9egig/pfof_ban_a_panic_move_by_the_sec/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/GME/comments/v9egig/pfof_ban_a_panic_move_by_the_sec/

Put on your tinfoil hats, boys and girls, it's about to get weird...

I think the SEC sees what GameStop is creating with the upcoming NFT marketplace. I think they realize the potential for it to be more than just a place to trade NFTs, but are suddenly realizing it could become a blockchain stock exchange with complete transparency and near instant settlement times. This scares the living shit out of them and their frans (Citadel and co.). Let me explain why.

Now I know Robinhood is our arch nemesis, but we can't deny the fact that it popped many of our trading cherries, and ultimately caused a surge in retail trading with their PFOF business model. That brought billions upon billions of new money into the stock exchange that the big money can't afford to lose. The SEC is now trying to look like the good guy by proposing a ban to PFOF, when in reality, Citadel and the other market makers can't afford to let masses of retail move to another stock market, i.e., the market that GME and LRC are potentially building. This is obviously wild speculation...or is it???