TA;DR We need to un-silence the horn and defeat Cornelius Fuscus. This requires transparency and free speech. The best way for apes to achieve this, in my view, is to defeat the algorithms of the bots. I believe they downvote new posts to Controversial to decrease visibility and silence new apes. I also believe they balance the votes to stall and keep posts from gaining traction. My proposal for defeating such deception is to keep an eye on controversial posts and pull good content from the void, while also bringing visibility to stalled posts. I see enough crap that there is plenty of room for content.

ELI5 - Shills are using bots to discourage new apes from participating in/viewing the discussion and therefore those new apes will not have the information to make sound investment decisions. The reason they are doing this is because if a large number of new apes buy into GME, it could serve as a potential catalyst toward kicking off the MOASS.

Computer Share

From what I understand so far.

1. Apes have been talking about this for WEEKS.
2. You don't HAVE to do anything.
3. They MIGHT get the NFTs or crypto first but that doesn't mean others WON'T.
4. Chill out, read, if you can't read and got this far just HODL APE.
5. Be patient, other Apes are talking and read their discussions.
6. Make your OWN decision. This is NOT financial advice.

7. I'm still waiting to be convinced. Skepticism is good.
8. If I don't do anything, I'm just as set as before.

Thanks for the conversation around this Apes.

Both view points are appreciated.

Feedback is always welcome.

■UPDATE■ Comment from Ape

"I just wrote this comment on another post, but thought it fit here as well:

Here's what I've learned:

1. Computershare is Gamestop's transfer agent. This is where the Gamestop company executive's shares are held.
2. When you direct register through Computershare, the shares are in your name and can't be used by FIs, MMs, SHFs, and the DTCC to manipulate the market and suppress the price.
3. If an NFT dividend is issued, you get it directly issued to you by Gamestop for your direct registered shares. If your shares are on a brokerage, you'll have to go through them to get the NFT, and I am not too optimistic about how that would go.
4. You can only place market orders to buy shares.
5. You can sell with limit orders good for either 1 or 30 days. IIRC, max transaction is 2,000,000 over via internet/phone (but I need to verify this with Computershare, as it may depend on the type of shares you own). Higher transactions require hand written requests.
6. Transferring shares is easy and free from Fidelity (no fees): How to easily transfer shares from Fidelity into Computershare to have them Direct Registered in your name: A step by step guide(with pictures)! https://www.reddit.com/r/infinitypool/comments/owm5ek/how_to_easily_transfer_shares_from_fidelity_into/?utm_medium=android_app&utm_source=share. My transfer took less than 3 days.
7. You can open an account by either buying or transferring. Once your shares have settled and are in your name, you can create a username/password to log into your account. Took about 5 days before I could access my account.

This has been my experience so far, and based on the amount of shilling I've been receiving, I do in fact think this is the way, as suggested by Dr. T.

Note: I am not anti-Fidelity. In fact, I've been pleased with their customer service and platform. However, I learned last week that Fidelity doesn't support crypto dividends which is a major downside for me personally.

As always, this is not financial advice and I'm not suggesting that anyone do anything. All APEs decide on their own what investment strategy is best for them. Me personally, I want an NFT and will be direct registering at least half of my position.

Power to the Players!

Can't stop. Won't stop. Gamestop!

"Dr. T and I spoke extensively on Computershare back in May (what seems a lifetime ago), and I connected with Computershare's President, Paul Conn, as a result to explore being part of the expert AMA series. He declined to do an AMA out of potential conflict, but the topic and conversations we're intriguing - guaranteed authentic shares in the hands of retail - however it all needed more research as I had concerns around resulting access to market, accessibility to shares and overall market dynamics. A DD team was put on it, but that work was never finished ... though over the past weeks I'm glad to see it has been picked up. And advanced, significantly.

Take-Away: Computershare is indeed legitimate. And so is this effort and desire to own and exercise dominion over your GME shares. This ... is the way. ■

Knowledge is power, be empowered - thanks for the post" \~ StonkU2

"Thanks Stonk! It's hard to see through all this obfuscation but it is great to know we have a trusted voice that spans across subs.

A Rune of Glory for you!

Now I have more things for my smooth brain to soak up.

Thanks again Ape!" \~ MM
