I think something. I'm slow so only just noticed one of our day 1 CEOs has left.

Instead of jumping ship maybe she's leading the boarding party.

Bbby is low, has stock, retail locations, trade contracts ect.

Maybe she's left to join the board and we're about to buy bbby for cheap. It wasn't long ago bbby was worth 7x sitting on a billion.

She might be getting board seat at bby to help us acquire it ready to launch gmerica. She's got kids companies, history with games and pets and been with Ryan since chewy.

Gmerica is going to be out new trading name because gamestop is a game retailer. Gmerica is an everything retailer.

We are going to start to acquire companies at some point, I'd want to get this company and this is how I'd do it.

Send her as boarding party, bring it into the fleet with trusted captain then plot course for the next 1.

We could buy 100million, announce the deal, watch it bounce back to 35, sell 100million worth and we have +600m and bbby for free.

Que the hoards to explain why I'm retarded lol
